

LSM Korpstur 2013 til Tallin

I år har styret bestemt at korpsturen skal gå til Tallin. Dette er bestemt ut fra innspill fra musikantene og av hensyn til pris på korpsturen. Vi mener en tur til Tallin gir oss mye for et lavt budsjett.

<http://www.tourism.tallinn.ee/eng/fpage>

Avreise Oslo søndag 23. juni med retur onsdag 26. juni. Vi reiser søndag 14:30 og er tilbake onsdag 18:30. Vi flyr begge veier med Norwegian.

Vi har sett på flere overnattingstilbud og kommet frem til at det beste er å bruke hotell. Vi skal bo på Radisson Blu Hotel Olümpia. Vi vil bo i businessklasse rom siden vi i de rommene kan ha 2 ekstra senger (gratis). Det vil bo 4 personer på hvert rom. Vi har satt sammen en pakke som inneholder overnatting, alle måltider, attraksjoner og fly.

Turen vil koste ca. 2900,- pr. person

I tillegg trenger man lommepenger.

Vi har allerede bestilt fly og hotell til 70 personer. Vi kan ikke få flere plasser på fly enn dette, men kan avbestille de plassene vi ikke trenger.

Siden det er begrenset plass på turen og siden vi er flere musikanter enn vi har plasser vil musikantene i hovedkorpset bli prioritert ved påmelding.

Siden musikanter under 10 år må ha med en forelder, eller en annen foresatt må ta ansvaret for musikanten, vil det muligens bli vanskelig å få plass til musikanter under 10 år.

Bindende påmelding ved innbetaling av 1000,- til korpsets konto 1600 40 79063 innen 1. februar 2013.

For de som melder seg på senere kan vi dessverre ikke garantere plass på fly eller hotellet i Tallin.

Dersom du har spørsmål, kan du kontakte turansvarlig Jan Vidar Hansen på jvhansen@online.no eller Helene Thompson på Helt@opplysningen1881.no.

Tallinn er Estlands hovedstad, og er av mange beskrevet som en av de vakreste byer i Baltikum. Tallin (danskebyen) ligger i en vik i Finskebukta, og byen var tidlig et viktig handelsområde. Danmark erobret byen i 1220. I slutten av 1200-tallet knyttet Tallin seg sterkt til Hansaene, og utviklet en innbringende handelsvirksomhet med Russland. Tallin oppleves som en by med med flotte bygninger fra middelalderen (eksempelvis i Gamlebyen), stilfulle gater- og områder, gamle borgermurer, en greskortodoks domkirk som er i bysantinsk stil, en lutherske domkirk fra ca. 1220, St. Olai kirken (kalles for skandinavenes kirke), det fine Toompea-slottet (1227), Kadriorgparken, det nesten femti meter høye tårnet "Lange Herman", en veldekorert gammel riksdagsbygning, og ikke minst et vennlig folkeslag.

Tallinn kan også by på opplevelser i form av operaforestillinger, konserter (både inne- og utendørs), ballett- og teater. Her er noe for enhver smak. Den shopping-glade turist vil trives i Tallin bl.a. i de populære shoppingområdene som Viru og Suur-Karj hvor man kan finne en god blanding blanding av vestlig- og østlig produkter, antikviteter, gamle militæreffekter og mye mer.

Og det beste av alt er prisnivået, for her kan alt kan kjøpes til lave priser. I Tallin er "det internasjonale kjøkken" fraværende, men byen kan by på hyggelige- små lokale kafeer- og restauranter hvor man kan pirre smaksløkene med estniske menyer til priser man ikke har opplevd på lenge. Tips: Raekoja Plats i gamlebyen er et bra område med hyggelige restauranter og kafeer. Uansett hva man velger så er man garantert et opplevelsrikt opphold i Tallin.

Location

Old Town hotel in Tallinn proves perfect for business and pleasure

Conveniently located in the heart of the business district, this Old Town hotel in Tallinn is just a few minutes from Lennart Meri Airport and Tallinn's harbour. Hotel guests can step back in time at Old Town, tour the popular Kiek in de K ok Tower/Museum or spend a busy afternoon browsing in several nearby shopping centres. Enjoy a day trip to Riga, Latvia, or head across the sea for an adventurous day on Aegna Island for kayaking, hiking nature trails and exploring beaches and forests.

About Estonia

Estonia is the northernmost of the three Baltic countries, situated between Latvia to the south, Russia to the east and the Baltic Sea to the north and west. Finland is only 80 kilometres away, across the Gulf of Finland.

Transport in Tallinn

The hotel is just three kilometres from the International Airport in Tallinn and is close to the city's seaport and the main bus station. Trams and trolleybuses are available near the city's centre for convenient access to Tallinn attractions.

Valuta

Euro.

Veksling av valuta og eurosjekker kan gjøres greit i de fleste banker. Noe problematisk er det å finne steder man kan veksle reisesjekker. Det er viktig å passe på når man veksler valuta fordi kursen kan variere fra bank til bank. Vi anbefaler alle å veksle i Norge så vi slipper å bruke tid på dette på korpsturen.

Visum

Norske statsborgere trenger kun gyldig pass ved feriereiser til Estland. Estiske myndigheter krever at norske pass er gyldige i tre måneder etter utreise fra Estland. I henhold til "Estonian State Borders Act" § 112, fra 01.12.2002, må barn over 7 år ha eget pass for innreise til Estland. Utenlandske statsborgere med oppholdstillatelse i Norge bør, i god tid før avreise fra Norge, kontakte den estiske ambassaden i Oslo for å fastslå i hvilken grad det foreligger visumplikt ved innreise til Estland.

Tidsforskjell til Norge

1 time før Norge. Når klokka er 12 i Norge, er den 13 i Estland.

Top 10 Attractions

Are you looking for the crème de la crème of Tallinn Card attractions? The following top-ten list was compiled based on Tallinn Card visitor data from last year and shows which sites were most visited or services were the most used. We recommend, however, that you use it as a starting point, since there's so much more to see and do!

1. Kiek in de Kök

The name of this massive, 38m-high cannon tower literally means "Peek into the Kitchen." It was so high that Medieval guards joked they could see right down the chimneys and into the kitchens of the houses below.

Visitors to the museum will see examples of Medieval firepower, displays detailing how the city's system of walls and towers developed through the centuries and an exhibit on crime and punishment in Old Tallinn. The museum also serves as the entrance to a fascinating system of hidden tunnels that runs underneath the old bastions at the southern edge of Toompea hill.

2. City Tour

These colorful, double-decker buses cruising around Tallinn make exploring the city both easy and fun. With audio commentary available in 10 languages, they let you hop off at any stop, see the surroundings, and then hop back on to continue the tour afterwards. The tours operate on three different lines:

The Blue Line takes you through the historic suburbs of Tallinn to Rocca al Mare, where you can visit the Estonian Open Air Museum, the zoo and a shopping centre. The road back takes you through Kalamaja and makes a stop at the Seaplane Harbour. The Green Line runs from the town centre to the Pirita district and back. Its 12 stops include Kadriorg Park, the Maarjamäe Palace, St. Bridget's Convent, the Botanic Gardens and the TV Tower. The Red Line, the Town Centre Tour, makes 10 stops covering the city centre, Kumu and Kadriorg Art Museums, Lasnamäe, the port area and Kalamaja.

3. Kadriorg Palace - Kadriorg Art Museum

A trip to Tallinn isn't a trip to Tallinn without a visit to this magnificent northern baroque palace, built by Peter the Great for his wife, Catherine I, in 1718. The grandiose palace with its surrounding manicured gardens is home to the foreign art collection of the Art Museum of Estonia.

The Kadriorg Art Museum displays hundreds of 16th- to 20th-century paintings by Western and Russian artists, as well as prints, sculptures and other works. While here, don't miss the decadent, two-storey main hall, with its elaborately painted ceiling and stucco work, or the room used as an office by Estonia's head of state before the nearby Presidential Palace was built.

4. Niguliste Museum (St. Nicholas' Church)

Founded by German merchant/settlers from the island of Gotland sometime around 1230, this 13th-century church was designed to double as a fortress in the days before the town wall was built. The building survived the reformationist looting of 1523, but wasn't so lucky in the 20th Century when it was destroyed by World War II bombs.

Since its restoration in the 1980s St. Nicholas' has functioned as a museum specializing in works of religious art, most famously Bernt Notke's beautiful but spooky painting Danse Macabre (Dance with Death). Exquisite altarpieces, baroque chandeliers and medieval burial slabs are also on display, while the Silver Chamber is home to stunning works by members of town's craft guilds.

5. Oleviste Church (St. Olav's Church) and Tower

Once upon a time, from 1549 to 1625 to be exact, this 13th-century church was the tallest building in the world. But its gigantic, 159-metre spire, turned out to be a very effective lightning rod. Throughout the church's history its steeple has been hit repeatedly by lightning, completely burning down the structure three times. Nowadays its smaller, 124-metre steeple still dwarfs most of Tallinn's buildings and remains an important symbol of the town. From April to October, visitors can make the vigorous climb to the top of the stone portion of the tower for magnificent and dizzying views of Old Town, Toompea hill and the port.

6. Estonian Open Air Museum

This museum lets you travel back in time to the rural Estonia of old. The vast, forested park is filled with thatched, 18-20th-century farm buildings, windmills, a wooden chapel and a village school, with staff demonstrating how people lived and worked in times past.

Visitors can buy handicrafts and try out the traditional food served in the village tavern.

The museum is outside of the city and its hectic hubbub, an ideal place to take a picnic and escape from city life.

7. Estonian History Museum - Great Guild Hall

This extensive museum presents Estonia's history from prehistoric times right up to the end of the 20th century. Films and interactive displays show how people here lived, fought and survived over the last 11,000 years.

The museum is housed in the 15th-century Great Guild Hall, itself a spectacular relic of Tallinn's past.

8. Kumu Art Museum

A must-see for culture creatures, Kumu, the main building of Art Museum of Estonia, serves both as Estonia's national gallery and as a centre for contemporary art. The complex itself is a work of art - it was opened in 2006 after nearly a decade of planning and construction, and is considered a modern architectural masterpiece.

Kumu's exhibition aim to appeal simultaneously to a diversity of audiences. Exhibitions display both classical and contemporary art and everything in between. The museum program features art from the 18th century until today, Estonian art until the Second World War, art of the Soviet era and a changing program of contemporary art.

9. Estonian Maritime Museum

The museum focuses on the all-important sea-faring aspect of Estonia's history, displaying such things as Neolithic fishing gear, antique diving equipment, and even the entire wheelhouse from a 1950s-era trawler.

The extensive museum covers four floors of the historic Fat Margaret cannon tower, but take the stairs to the roof for a picture-postcard view of the harbour and the Old Town.

10. Holy Spirit Church

This 14th-century Holy Spirit Church is a spectacular structure both inside and out. The elaborate painted clock on its facade is Tallinn's oldest public timepiece, dating to the late 17th century. But don't miss the carved wood interior which includes such treasures as a unique 15th century altar by the famous Lübeck artist Bernt Notke, and one of the oldest pulpits in Estonia, dating to 1597.

The church was originally founded as part of the neighbouring Holy Spirit Almshouse, which tended to the town's sick and elderly. Throughout Medieval times it remained the primary church of the common folk. After the Reformation, it was here that the first sermons were ever given in the Estonian language (as opposed to German), and a catechism published in 1535 by the church's pastor Johann Koell is thought to be the first book in Estonian.
